

The Bullsheet, a forum for news, humor, and community dialogue, is funded by DCGA, needs their writers to submit something soon... And is printed each day that classes are in session. Submissions must be sent before our editors shamble into the office for next day publication via e-mail to: bullsheet@denison.edu. Submissions herein solely reflect the opinions of the authors.

Edited last night by: Mick Delivered this morning by: Blythe
vol. LXIX / no. 23 / September 28th, 2022

Different Types of First Years: Volume #1

The High Schooler

This is the person who hasn't fully gotten into the headspace of what it is like to be independent. They still act as if they are in high school, which can be bad for many reasons. For starters, they can't keep a secret to save their life. If you tell them one secret, half the campus is somehow going to know that you accidentally pissed in your closet after you got too drunk on wednesday. Yet, the high school first-year does have some redeeming qualities. They become overly excited about any form of alcohol they get their hands on, it is kinda cute to see them get so excited about being able to drink two warm PBRs.

The "My Life Is A Movie" First Year

This is the type of person to film every single second of the pregame and party for snapchat. They are constantly trying to compete on snap chat with their friends that go to state schools. They flex the amount of drinks they had on a night out because they think that deleting ten beers makes them a god among humans. We go to a small liberal arts college in the middle of nowhere, this is not Project X.

Hollywood

For some reason every year there are a few first years that know almost every person on campus. It will be the third week of school and this kid will know me and all my friends and all my friend's friends. This person isn't necessarily the coolest, sweetest, or funniest person in the world, but for some reason they are really easy to get along with. All the other first year students are jealous of this person, but would never admit it.

The Indie Kid

We have all seen the first year indie kids. They wear their thrifted outfits and walk around trying to act that they don't care about what other people think. They totally believe that they are in a coming-of-age movie, so they constantly say cringy things and are always looking for the love of their life. These are the kids who watch the sunrise and smoke their first cigarette, but act like they've been smoking for years. They have an awesome taste in music, can

Bullsheets Playlist:

Volume #1

As you are walking to class take a listen to a curated playlist from the Bullsheets. I hope you enjoy the variety of music!

Brass Monkey- Beastie Boys

Unchained Melody- The Righteous Brothers

Losing My Religion- R.E.M.

Like A G6- Far East Movement

Sexual healing- Marvin Gaye

Hot Blooded- Foreigner

E.T.- Katy Perry

European Son- The Velvet Underground

Take Me Home, Country Home- John Denver

-DJ Mid

Staff "Ligma Jokes" Box

Betsy "Ligma" Wagner, Managing Editor
Ellie "Pudding" Schrader, Senior Editor
Mick "Dragon" Smith, Junior Editor
Claire "Candice" Anderson, Junior Editor
.....
William "Sugma" Kelsey, Head Writer
Blythe "Tippa" Dahlem, Senior Writer
Lena "Jack" Hanrahan, Senior Writer
Evie "Pooped Her Pants" Waters, Secretary

Shit, Shart, or shot?

