Things I Would Use The $40 Denison Pen For...

Tatum Thomas,
Junior Writer

One day while scrolling through the Denison bookstore site I discovered that there is an average ballpoint pen selling for a whopping $39.99. See if I was in possession of such a pen I wouldn't use it for your run-of-the-mill shopping lists or class notes, I would use it for special occasions only. If I paid that much for a pen I would only use it to make BIG moves.

Big moves like...

Signing the lease on the tiny home I bought in the middle of Alaska

Writing a Dear John letter to the old rich man who never got me to sign a prenup

Writing a diss track on Adam Wienberg

Drawing pictures of my childhood celebrity crush - the map from Dora The Explorer

Signing my WWE developmental contract

Writing a letter to Santa Claus demanding that he give me a reindeer

Using it to kill my mortal enemy John Wick style

Writing my anti-dog manifesto

But most importantly, I would give the pen to future MLB hall of famer, Cincinnati Red first baseman, Joey Votto to sign all 180 custom-made bobbleheads that I spent the last 34 weeks meticulously making so I can sell them on E-Bay for instant profit!

We Need to Have a Conversation...

Christine Trueh,
Sophomore Writer

Right now, I am talking to the entire Denison community, more specifically, I am talking to you STANLEY CUP BITCHES (non derogatory of course <3) ! We are going to have to start rationing ice cubes out because there is a frozen water shortage on this small, small liberal arts campus.

Slyater and these dining halls CAN NOT keep up with these huge jugs of metal and moldy straws you girls keep carrying around this campus. It is not fair for you to carry these water filled tanks to the BRIM of quality, quality ice on this campus. I can't take it anymore... please (*tear*)

I am an avid drinker of water, and water is the most important thing for your body. And personally, I prefer my water with ice. A nice refreshing bottle of water, pure H2O, yet I can't quench my thirst because of the LACK OF DAMN ICE! The quality of water on this campus is already terrible, and the only way it can be better is if our water is mixed with ice.

Maybe we can come up with solutions in order to allow students on campus to have access to ice on campus. How about we buy some ice machines around campus? How about we burn all Stanley cups on campus (in a friendly environmental way)?

Thank you SO much for listening to my TedTalk. Acknowledgments to DCGA for your contribution to including water bottle filling stations around campus, but please use that multi-million dollar budget (that I KNOW you have) and invest into multiple ice machines on campus.

P.S. TRUST- I will be watching you Stanley cup users... and you 128 oz Hydro Flask users, I'm coming after you next.

Thank you,
Avid ice eater.
