WHAT TO SAY INSTEAD OF “LETS STAY FRIENDS”

Lucy Dale,
Expert

Both parties understand that this is a courtesy when ending a romantic relationship but it’s time for new lingo.

What to say if you do really want to stay friends

“Let’s co-own a bouncy house and rent it out for special events”

“Let’s create a secret language so that we can talk shit about our other friends in front of them”

“Let’s wear silly hats on Thursdays”

“Let’s start a gambling ring that only works with flex dollars”

“Let’s text each other every time we have an awkward interaction and write a review with a rating out of 10”

“Let’s submit Denny Desires about each other but just write ‘they’re such a kind soul’”

“Let’s walk around campus and debate which trees the other could climb”

“Let’s run our emails by each other before sending them to make sure we don’t sound too assertive”

What to say if you don’t really want to stay friends

“Let’s go to the library at the same time but not sit together”

“Let’s stand in the mail room line but not talk and just go on our phones”

“Let’s walk by each other, make eye contact, nod in a way that the other person can’t tell if it was a nod or just an involuntary movement, then contemplate the interaction for the rest of the day”

“Let’s eat a meal with other friends and sit in silence when they get up to get more food/drink”

“Let’s tell the other that their shoe is untied when it’s not just to make them look”

“Let’s separately buy bouncy houses, and become business rivals”

ADAM WEINBERG'S SPOTIFY WRAPPED

Christine,
Taste-maker

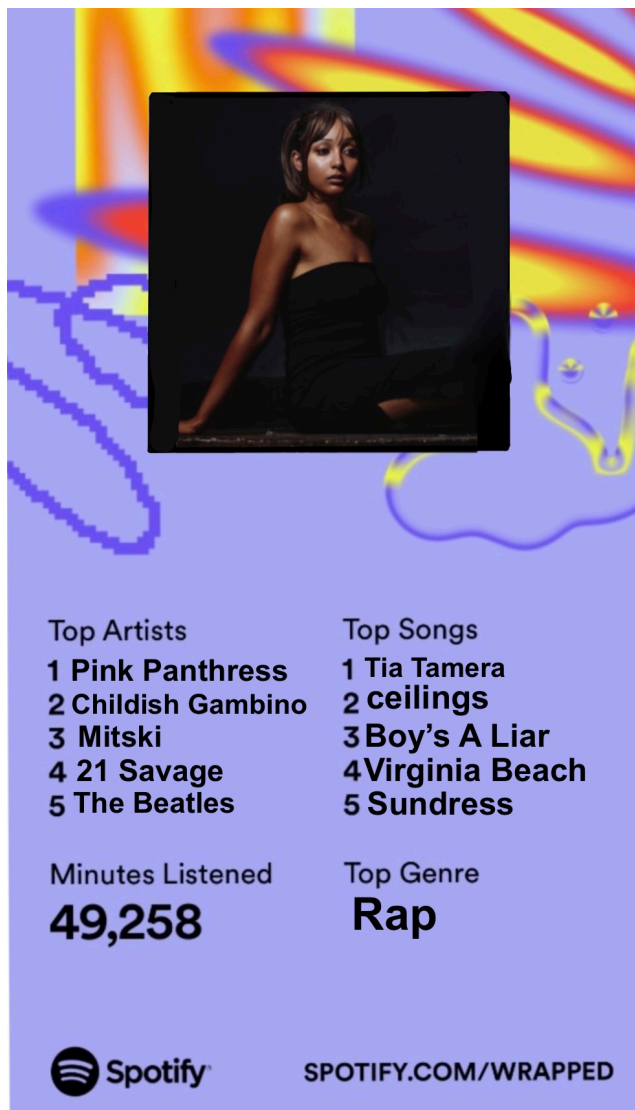

The Bullsheet received a cryptic letter slid underneath our small Bullsheet office door. Here is the confidential letter we received:

To whom it may concern.

My name is [REDACTED] and I am a [REDACTED] here at Denison. I am a Computer Science major and doing my final project for Professor [REDACTED]'s class, I have hacked into President Weinberg's Spotify account! Now normally, I wouldn't be outing myself like this, so I would like to remain anonymous as I release this information. Since it's the season of Spotify Wrapped, here is the shocking discovery of Adam Weinberg's secret Spotify account whose username is @daddydubs.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]
