

THE BULLSHEET

The Bullsheet, a forum for news, humor, and community dialogue, is funded by DCGA, recycles (?), and is printed each day that classes are in session. Submissions must be sent before our editors shamble into the office for next day publication via email to: bullsheet@denison.edu. Submissions herein solely reflect the opinions of the authors.

THE BULLSHEET'S GUIDE TO FAMILY WEEKEND

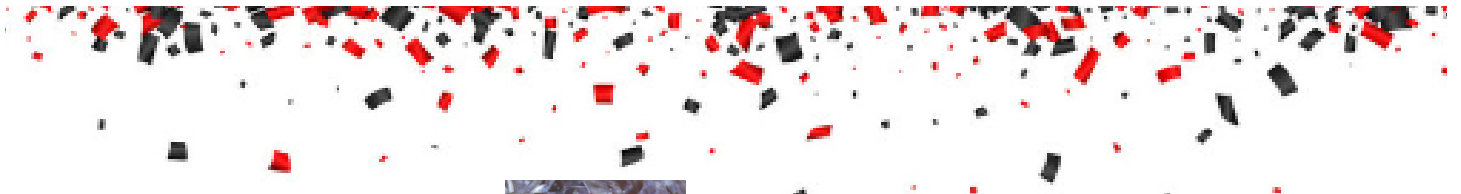

Caroline Concannon,
Stoked

THE FAM IS HERE! The fated weekend is finally upon us. Say goodbye to Big Red Weekend as you knew it. It's no longer a blip of a campus overflowing with old friends who literally just graduated competing with your parents for your time and attention. You're now free of the trippy optics involved in balancing a conversation with some old alums telling you stories of their glory days in the foreground while trying to focus out the background of your roommate's mom grinding on some K Sig. You're officially rid of those distractions! Now, entirely new, it's gonna be your teammate's mom. And the year after that, your mom. And in 25 years, it just might happen to be you!

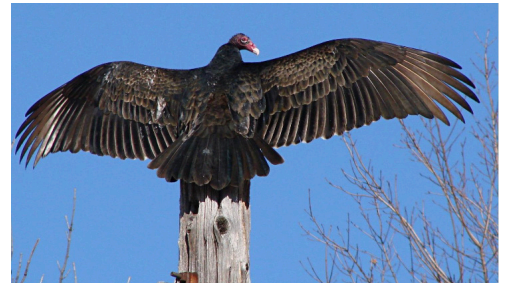

But this here article is focused on the present moment. I mean, think about all those distractions and what they truly did. You never had a second to stop during Big Red Weekend! It was craziness throughout the day, dinner with your parents, getting hammered with your visiting friends, then hungover breakfast with your parents the next day, and the cycle would repeat itself. It's all different now--no alums, not just parents. It's family. Siblings, annoying aunts, grandparents, godparents, lions, tigers, and bears, oh my!

Your routine is not what it once was. There are brand new people here who are experiencing a weekend like this on campus for the first time. That's where I come in. Let me help you out with figuring out how to do family weekend right:

Families, I'd like to tell you I normally write funnier sheets than this, but we both know that would be a lie.

BIG.

RED.

GO BIG RED!

- Mr. Red

Breaking News - In a stunning turn of events, Eric Adams has retained the team of CSEA LAW. The White Shoe, Granville based legal duo is stepping up to take on the Southern District of New York. Legal minds all over the country are preparing for a gripping trial that will see both Eric "Gandhi" Adams being questioned over potential bribery. And Carter & Emmy practice law on land, not a ship.

The "Get Stuff Done" mayor will be questioned over his alleged corruption and benefiting from his Turkish connections. After one too many stays at luxury hotels on the dime of Turkish officials, Adams could potentially be turning in his "Hustle" for a set of steel cuffs, and I do not mean a chic pair of silver cufflinks. Handcuffs. From the steps of Daniel Patrick Moynihan United States Courthouse New York, New York both attorneys spoke about representing New York Mayor Eric Adams.

Carter Seipel, J.D decreed that they look forward to their opportunity to defend the man that has honorably represented New York, and is now being punished for "just flying on planes" and "looking for a place to rest his head at the end of the night". Attorney Emmy Ayad followed up by adding, "The charges are frankly libel against the good man's character. We are horrified that the SDNY would lob these baseless accusations. Our firm will easily prove that he did not receive free first class flights, approve the building of a skyscraper for the Turkish government, or abandon a dead bear in Central Park - wait scratch that last part, that's our other client".

HEY, STOP THROWING AWAY THE SHEET!

Griffin & Caroline,
Kinda bummed

Dear person who is about to recycle this Bullsheet,

Stop it! The Bullsheets that adorn campus can stay out a little longer than the 10 hour work day. It is an egregious environmental waste to just dump them when some people enjoy having something to mill over as they eat or go about their day (shocking, we know). For future sheets, let's have a compromise. For however long GrubHub orders continue to take 72 hours, maybe we get that same time for someone to decide to pick us up. And hey, maybe you might even want to read before you toss. Or not. It's totally fine, your call. Our feelings definitely won't be hurt at all if you throw the sheets out before bothering to read them. You for sure won't be deprived of at least one chuckle in your daily routine. That's just fine. Thanks for at least considering.

Love always,

G & C <3
