

VOTE ON THAT THANG WITH PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE KAMALA HARRIS

S, M, G, E,
long time listeners

Last week, Vice President Kamala went on the Call her Daddy with Alex Cooper. This left everyone wondering... When will the Vice President go on the prestigious Talk Tuah with the esteemed Hailey Welch. Well... the wait is over. Hailey and Kamala sat down to talk boys, guns, and tuah. Read the transcript from this stimulating conversation below:

Hailey: My! Thank yew for breezing on down to my humble little trailer aybodee.

Kamala: I am so happy to be here. You know Ella has been a dedicated listener and I am so glad she convinced me to join you.

Hailey: Last time I went to the gas station they were selling dildos shaped like guns. Now personally, I am a Smith and Wesson kind of gal. Which do you think you would have got?

Kamala: Preach.

Hailey: Come on now. We all know about your glock. And I don't mean Doug. Haven't you ever Glock Tuah shot on that thang?

Kamala: I said it once and I will say it again: "I won't hesitate, bitch."

Hailey: Speaking of which, my Grammy is a red-necked Republican through and through. She's stuck in that Alabama mud when it comes to Reaganomics. What is one thing you would say to convince her to vote for you?

Kamala: You're fired.

Hailey: If you could arrange a marriage for me, who would that feller be?

Kamala: Have you seen the hog on Arnold Palmer?

Hailey: You're pandering. Let's play a game: fuck marry kill. Obama, Trump, Biden.

Kamala: You know, I want to talk about this. For decades, women in politics have been either relegated to the back bench or worse, sexualized for their participation in civic life. Both substantive and descriptive representation will only occur when men in politics are cognizant of their role as either enablers or worse perpetrators. The condition for women in politics has definitely improved in my decades as a civil servant, but I hope that whichever young girl from Oakland is listening to this podcast experiences a better environment when she decides to run for president.

Hailey: Fine. What's one move in bed that makes a man go crazy?

Kamala: Walk tuah the polls!

Reaganomics
