LUNCHLY: AN HONEST REVIEW

Tatum Thomas,
Maverick

That's right you read the title correctly, I risked my life for the sake of content when I decided that it would be a good idea to try every single flavor of Lunchly. For those not in the know, the YouTubers Logan "not the one that fought Mike Tyson" Paul, Mr.Beast, and KSI teamed together to bring the world an alternative to Lunchables. The #1 thing this product is most known for is the fact that the cheese is moldy and that the cheese is drippy, making them damn near impossible to find on store shelves. But lucky for you guys when I went to the Kroger near my house I was able to find every flavor they make!

Let The Bullsheet tell ya how the Lunchly's taste so you don't have to risk getting mold poisoning yourself!

- 1. Prime: The one thing that they got right with the Lunchly's is the flavor of Prime that they decided to put in each box. Strawberry Banana, Ice Pop, and Cherry Freeze are some of the only Prime flavors that don't taste like fruity chemicals. If given the choice between a Gatorade and a Strawberry Banana Prime, I'd choose the Logan Paul juice each time!
- 2. Feastables: Mr.Beast should never attempt to make a chocolate bar again! For how much he hypes up this chocolate the shit taste so MID. The milk chocolate one tastes like dollar-store easter bunnies and the crunch bar is barely even crunchy. If I was Mr.Beast I'd stick to selling the children t-shirts with forged signatures on them.
- 3. The Packaging: The design on the box is the only time any of this stuff looks appetizing. Despite having 3 different variants (Pizza, Nachos, and crackers) the trays all 3 of them come in are the exact same. Leading to the crackers and nachos looking haphazardly put together.
- 4. Pizza Lunchly: I was one of the lucky few souls to get a mold-free box of this Lunchly and let me tell ya...this tastes exactly like a Pizza Lunchable! They advertised it as tasting so much better than a Lunchable but oh my god what I definitely ate was a Lunchable.
- 5. Nacho Lunchly: THE CHEESE WAS NOT DRIPPY. I was promised that when I dipped the nachos in the cheese there would be at least 3 inches of drip and my cheese did not drip at all (very disappointing). Real talk tho, this one was the best of the bunch. The salsa was chunkier than the Lunchable version but had a better flavor to it. The cheese tasted "seasoned" almost (interpret that how ya want). The tortilla chips themselves taste the same as Lunchables. I think this one comes down to personal dipper preference but I found these to be a tad better than the original Lunchables.
- 6. Turkey, Cheese, & Cracker Lunchly: If you love your tastebuds do yourself a favor and STAY AS FAR AWAY FROM THESE AS POSSIBLE!!! These actually taste worse than the Lunchmaker cracker stackers - ya know those lunchables that weren't real lunchables that cost like $0.99 and you would cry when your parents brought those home instead of the actual Lunchables because the only good thing in them was the box of Nerds??? - I think it would be a smart move for them as a company if they discontinue this box in particular.
- 7. TL;DR: Just stick with Lunchables, Lunchly's ain't much - trust me!

SELAH AND MICAH'S GUIDE TO MAKING OUT

Selah and Micah, Multitalented, multi-facedest, and multitaskers

With tongue:

Start slow. Ease into it. Breathe some hot air into the other person's mouth. Give them a taste. Make them want it. Pull back— it takes two to tango. Let them chase you. Tease them, tingle their senses. Wiggle a finger into their armpit and give them a tickle. Have fun with it! But also, here is where you want to incorporate a little danger as well. Wiggle that finger back out and pull out a gun instead. Cock it (yeah, that's right) and press it against their temple. The second they feel the cold metal barrel touch their flushed skin is when you want to slip that tongue in. Pick up the pace a little. Start exploring. Scavenge. Your tongue is a cartographer, mapping out terrain, identifying landmarks. X marks the spot. Claim your territory. Plant your flag. Lift your leg and piss on a fire hydrant. Pull the trigger.

Like a bandit:

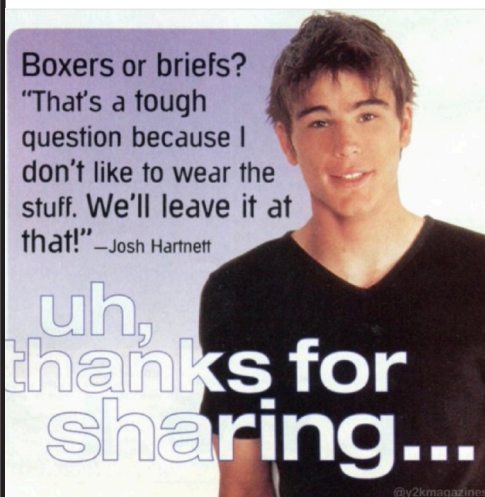

Mischief is like a ballet. It's arched feet and clean lines. It's trusting your partner and reading their cues. Practice the choreography. Know it backwards and forwards, front to back, side to side. Rehearse every possible scenario. Feel the movements. Let your body take the lead. Breathe. Focus. Trust yourself. Do your research. Know your target. Become your target. Spend every waking moment imaging and re-imagining your triumph. Stop going to classes. Stop talking to your friends. Ignore your mom's calls. They're all plotting against you. You can't trust them. They're going to destroy everything you've worked so hard for. Don't open the door when the police come knocking. Scream out that they'll never take you alive. They'll tell you they're just checking in because your mom is concerned— don't listen to them. Rehearse your steps. Again. And again. And again. And again. And a one-two-three-four.
