

The Bullsheet, a forum for news, humor, and community dialogue, is funded by DCGA, recycles, is gonna be ok, and is printed each day that classes are in session. Submissions must be sent before our editors shamble into the office for next day publication via email to: bullsheet@denison.edu. Submissions herein solely reflect the opinions of the authors.

Edited last night by:

Caroline C.

Delivered this morning by:

William

February 25th, 2025

GRANVILLE'S MOST ENERGIZED PUBLICATION

Vol. XLV, No. 95

24 LESSONS I LEARNED AFTER DOING THE 24 HOUR SHOW 4 TIMES

Chomp,
Well-rested

1. Human bodies aren't built for this. Especially the bones in your ass.
2. Time isn't real until it is.
3. Weinberg food is always the best food.
4. Venmo is a beautiful, beautiful thing.
5. Musical improv is so horrible to experience and the most fun you could ever have when you do it.
6. The eugenicist that Herrick was would definitely want to eradicate the entire Burpee race.
7. A horn can only be honked so many times before it can't ever honk again. Think on that one.
8. 4 AM is a time that a group of people shouldn't have to spend time together.
9. If your academic advisor walks in at 7 AM and you're all playing house and getting all of your friends who are pretending to be babies chocolate milk and chicken nuggets, tell yourself that's ok and you won't be judged.
10. When the university president walks in as you're playing "Jason Derulo and Justify" and "Wiggle" blasts as you all shake ass, commit harder.
11. Having the norovirus is an improv-charging superpower.
12. Friends who come and watch you throughout the show for hours at a time over multiple occasions are friends you should hold close for life.
13. Alumni like Mick Smith who make you do a oneion should be excommunicated from your sphere of existence.
14. HALFWAY THERE! HALFWAY THERE! HALFWAY THERE!
15. Denison has a beautiful sunrise.
16. You could sleep until 11 AM or until 3 PM. Years of experience contribute to this variability.
17. You should get drunk afterwards. If you shotgun, you will throw up without question.
18. Don't hook up during it.
19. Some of the funniest moments you'll ever experience will be seen by one person on a Facebook livestream and that person is a bot.
20. Cherry on top.
21. Sometimes you don't remember everyone who was there. Sometimes you don't remember everything that happened. Sometimes the scars never leave.
22. The bowling shirt feels heavier with each passing hour.
23. You question why/how you chose this to be your college experience.
24. After 96 hours of improv through 24 hour shows, you never want to do it again.

HALLO!

Christine Trueh,
Foreign Correspondent

Hello! Long time no see!

It's been a while since I've written a sheet (I apologize), but I have been busy increasing my carbon footprint by TENFOLD.

As you guys know, or may not know... I'm in SWITZERLAND! Lugano, specifically Ticino, I don't know, but I've been gone for a month now! And after a month, I've visited 4 countries, and half of my savings are down the drain. Just in case you guys have been feeling a bit miserable from all the snow, here's a quick update about my life to cheer you up about yours (hehe)!

I miss Denison; I do. I thought Denison was small, but oh my, I was proven wrong. With a whopping 353 students total, I am a temporary student at Franklin University Switzerland! Other than going to class, I spend my time traveling!

This past weekend, I had Thursday off, and I decided to go to the Netherlands! For four days, I split my time between Rotterdam and Amsterdam. Here are a couple of highlights from each place if you ever want to visit.

Amsterdam

Ah, Amsterdam... the city of weed, gigolos, and Van Gogh. One of my favorite places I got to see was the Van Gogh Museum. Lots of cool artworks to see, and if you talk to the right person, you'll be able to touch his severed ear. The next place I went was the Heineken Museum, the first beer imported into the US after Prohibition. A fun tour and two pints of beer is always a nice time in Amsterdam, and if you're lucky too, you might randomly run into someone from Denison; I know I did.

Rotterdam

Rotterdam is an underrated part of the Netherlands. Lots of cool history and so many fun things to see. The Markthal had to be one of my favorite places to visit. It's a large building filled with tons of food shops and vendors. It's not a hard building to miss; just imagine a giant grey Twinkie-shaped building in the middle of a giant square. There's also a small little town of Kinderdijk with 700-year-old windmills which is worth the visit. I also managed to get tickets to a Feyenoord game, Rotterdam's local football game. Other than watching the team play, I got to watch a single Dutch man smoke twelve cigarettes in 90 minutes, a woman fall a flight of stairs during the most crucial part of the game (so inconsiderate), and one child eat five Bitterballen, one Gehaktstaaf, one Broodje kroket, and two Frikandels. We Gaan Voor Feyenoord!!

Dank u wel!

FORMAL COMPLAINT

Caroline Concannon,
Get me out of here

WHY DID THE GALA COST MONEY?

Staff "YAY!" Box

Caroline "YAY!" Lopez, Managing Editor
Selah "YAY!" Griffin, Senior Editor
Emmy "YAY!" Ayad, Senior Editor
Brin "YAY!" Glass, Senior Editor

Caroline "YAY!" Concannon, Head Writer
Ella "YAY!" Buzas, Senior Writer
Griffin "YAY!" Conley, Senior Writer
Micah "YAY!" DeLorenzo, Senior Writer
Tatum "YAY!" Thomas, Senior Writer
Carter "YAY!" Seipel, Foreign Correspondent
Arianna "YAY!" Griffiths, Junior Writer
Elliot "YAY!" Harpham, Foreign Correspondent
Leah "YAY!" Jackson, Foreign Correspondent
Christine "YAY!" Trueh, Foreign Correspondent
Lucy "YAY!" Dale, Sophomore Writer
Eleanor "YAY!" Mason, Sophomore Writer
William "YAY!" Eddleman, Freshman Writer
Lindsey "YAY!" George, Freshman Writer
Lucy "YAY!" Hollingsworth-Hays, Freshman Writer
Hayley "YAY!" Shay, Freshman Writer

